

How to earn your first 100$ dollar ?

Introduction

The internet is a great place to earn money, but it can be hard to find the best ways to do so. In this article, I'll show you how I earned my first $100 online.

What do you want to earn your first 100$ dollar ?

You can earn your first 100$ dollar from your own home.

You can earn by doing work from home.

You can earn by working online.

You can earn by freelance work, freelancing work and doing online jobs

So what you need to do before start earning your first 100$ dollar ?

So what you need to do before start earning your first 100$ dollar ?

- You need a good internet connection. The better is your internet connection, the more money you will make from it.
- You need knowledge about how internet works and how money can be made online without doing any work!
- If you don't know anything about business or marketing then it's not possible for you to earn money online by making websites or blogs as well as selling products on ebay etc., because these things require a lot of knowledge on these topics which are not easy at all!

So, how do you make money online for non-technical person! Earn your first 100$

So, how do you make money online for non-technical person! Earn your first 100$

Here are few ways you can earn money online:

- Freelance work – You can find freelance jobs on websites like Upwork or Freelancer. These sites allow you to post your skills, experience and rate per project that you want to do. Once the client accepts your bid, he will send a message to let you know when he needs help with his project and what's included in the job description. Once that happens then it is time for both parties to start working together towards completing their tasks within time frames discussed beforehand between them.*
- Get paid surveys – Survey companies pay individuals small amounts of money just by taking surveys from them which helps them collect valuable data about what people think about products/services offered by different companies thus making sure that their customers always have something new every time they visit their website.*

1. Start affiliate marketing

- Start affiliate marketing

If you want to earn money from affiliate marketing, it is very important that you start with the right product. You can't just try out all types of products like there's no tomorrow, because if your audience does not like the products you promote and promote them poorly then they will not buy anything from you. So always choose a niche that interests your audience, such as beauty products or video games etc., so that when someone clicks on your link then he/she gets convinced by what he/she sees and buys it immediately after seeing how awesome those things are!

2. Create your own blog or website

- Create your own blog or website

The next step is to create a blog or website for yourself. The main purpose of this is to promote your business and get clients, so it's important that you choose a domain name that is easy to remember (e.g., "MyBlog"). You can also use the same theme for both websites if you have one in mind already!

3. Become a freelancer

If you're looking to earn some extra cash, freelancing is a great option. Here's what it means:

- Freelancers are self-employed people who work for themselves instead of an employer. They get paid by the job or project they complete, rather than receiving a salary from their company every week.
- In order to become a freelancer, you'll need certain skills and knowledge that can help land clients in your field. Most freelancers have strong technical skills—like design and coding—but it's also important for them to have knowledge about their industry and how best practices work within it; this way they can provide better service than someone who only knows how things used to be done before technology changed everything!

4. Earn from YouTube & Video Marketing

YouTube is the world's second largest search engine, and it has more than 1.9 billion monthly active users. It's also the second most visited website in the world and one of the most used social media platforms in the world.

If you have a channel on Youtube, then you could earn money by uploading videos about your niche topic or product reviews on YouTube. You can create an account at https://www.youtube.com/create\_account?c=username if you don't have one yet!

5. Sell photos online

Selling photos online is not easy. But if you know what to do, it can be lucrative.

- Photo editing software: There are so many photo editing apps available for free in the Apple App Store and Google Play store that allow you to edit your photos before uploading them to the web or selling them through shutterstock. The most popular ones include Snapseed, VSCO Cam and Adobe Lightroom Mobile. They're all great tools for making sure your photos are ready for sale on the internet—but remember only use these apps when working with images that don't already have filters applied by another photographer (such as an Instagram user). Otherwise, they may cause problems when trying to upload or export files later on!

7. Earn from Fiverr

Fiverr is a great place to start making money from home. It's also one of the most popular sites for freelancers and independent contractors, so you can be sure that there are plenty of jobs available on it.

You'll need to have an account before you can start creating gigs or selling services through Fiverr (sign up here). Once your account has been approved, simply browse through some of the available work opportunities on their marketplace (they have tons), choose what type of gig you want to do and then select "Create Gig" from within your dashboard. After that, all that needs to be done is wait until someone pays for your service! You will receive payment via PayPal once they're satisfied with what they purchased from you.

8. Become a virtual assistant

Virtual assistants are a great way to earn your first 100$ without having to invest much time or money.

Virtual assistants take care of different tasks for their clients, like answering emails and helping with research. They can also be hired by companies as part of their in-house team if the client needs help with administrative tasks like organizing meetings or managing schedules.

The best part about being a virtual assistant is that you don't need any experience—you can just start doing it! It's even possible for beginners who don't know much about computers or technology at all because there are simple apps available online where you just install them onto your phone and start working immediately (there are also websites like Upwork where employers post jobs).

It's important not only to know how much you want from this job but also what kind of lifestyle will support it financially so that when something goes wrong during work hours (like someone calling late), instead of worrying about finding an alternative solution right away because we're always pressed for time these days; we get frustrated thinking "I'm gonna have less money next month!"

9. Work as an online tutor

As an online tutor, you can earn your first 100 dollars by helping students with their homework or test prep. This is the best way to earn money while doing something you love! You will be able to work from home and make money in the comfort of your own home. The benefits include:

- Flexibility - You can choose between working on weekdays or weekends, as well as evenings and weekends. If there are no assignments due during your preferred hours then it won't be hard for anyone else at all!
- Compensation - The compensation varies from student-to-student but usually ranges anywhere from $15-$25 per hour depending upon how much time they need help with; however, this depends entirely on the subject matter being taught which is why it's important that potential tutors do some research before deciding whether or not they should pursue becoming an online tutor themselves instead of taking someone else's word for it."

10. Become a blogger or writer (or both)

Become a blogger or writer.

Blogging can be a great way to earn money online and you don't have to be an expert in the field of your blog. You just need to have some knowledge about the subject, write good content and create an engaging website that will attract people's attention.

You can make money from ads, affiliate marketing and sponsorships as well as selling your own products on Amazon or eBay (if you're into selling). If you want more information on how this works then check out our guide here: How To Make Money Blogging?

11. Get paid to be a social media manager

Social media management is a lucrative business that can pay you as much as $100 per hour. You don't need to be an expert in social media marketing or know how to program websites, but you do need to have a good eye for the details.

You'll want to write a good description of what your services are and how they benefit customers. You should also create a profile picture that reflects who you are and make sure it's professional-looking (no selfies!). Post regularly on Facebook, Twitter and Instagram (at least once per day) with engaging posts like funny memes or inspirational quotes that relate back to your brand name. Engage with followers by commenting on their posts if they're relevant; share content from others who have similar interests as yours; use hashtags when posting so people can find each other easily online; write SEO optimized tags such as #socialmediamanager so users searching for specific keywords will find them quickly when browsing through results lists after searching "social media manager" in Google search engine results pages (SERP).

12. Sell your course online (or teach others) on Udemy & Skillshare etc. platforms

If you're thinking of selling your course, then there are two ways to do it:

- Sell the course on Udemy or Skillshare platforms. This is one of the easiest ways to earn money from your own courses and it can help you build a successful online business. You just have to create an account on any of these platforms and upload your content in order for people to learn what they need from you. Once done with this step, make sure that all details about pricing and payment methods are clear so that no one gets confused when buying products from sellers like yours.* Teach others through courses on platforms like Udemy, Skillshare etc., which will allow them access only after completing certain steps first (usually required). You'll need someone else's expertise or knowledge so that they feel motivated enough by reading great content; otherwise no one would want anything else apart from watching TV at night thanks !!!

13. Start consulting business (online)

- Start a consulting business. There are many ways to earn money online, but one of the easiest is to start your own consultancy. Whether you have a particular skill or knowledge that could benefit other people, there are opportunities for making money through this type of business model.
- What is consulting? A consultant provides advice or guidance on matters such as marketing, sales and finance in return for payment from clients who want help with these issues.
- Business model for consulting: The most common way for consultants to earn their income is by charging hourly rates (usually between $50-75 per hour). However there are some other options available too: some consultants charge flat fees based on how much work needs doing; others charge monthly retainer fees where they provide ongoing support and services over an agreed period of time; others offer fixed monthly contracts costing between $1000-$5000+ depending on what level of service required etcetera...

Conclusion

As you can see, there are many ways to start earning money online. You don't need any technical skills and all you need is a good idea and determination to build your business.